BIG RALLY TOMORROW AT HIGH

To Precede League Clash With South Pasadena on Moyses Field

MONROVIA IS LEADING

No Other First Team Has Scored in Any Game So Far

Friday will be an eventful day at Glendale high school. On account of the league game to be played by the first team with South Pasadena in the afternoon at 3:30 on Moyses field, there will be a double rally which will more than fill the auditorium at the noon roll call period, to be held at the school.

At 11:30 will come the much anticipated glee club concert by U. of D. organization which no one will want to miss.

The first teams of the six schools in the Central league have played a rather queer experience, Monrovia being the only one to score. Alhambra and South Pasadena played a tie game, 6 to 6; Glendale and Covina tied in a game which scored 11 to 9. Monrovia and Citrus played and were tied in the first half, but the game ended in Monrovia's favor 12 to 6.

PASSING TRACK IS FIRST OF S. P. IMPROVEMENTS

Freight Depot Expansion Plan May Begin in Few Weeks

Reils will be laid this week in the new passing track being constructed by the Southern Pacific company at Burbank Junction, and in another two weeks the work will be completed and ready for use.

This is the first of a series of improvements which the company expects to make at Burbank.

Blueprints have been drawn up which provide for an expansion of the freight depot and loading platform, but according to the local station agent, it may be a long time before any definite move is taken for the actual construction.

In addition to the freight depot expansion, before many months larger quarters will have to be provided for the offices. L. M. Rothberg, the agent, says no plans have been made for this extension, but the company, he believes, when it begins work will provide not only for the business of the present but for the growth of Burbank for some years.

TRAVELING DICK REACHES CITY FROM TAMPA

A thin boy with beautiful eyes and a pleasant smile, carrying a 30-pound pack, blew into Glendale on his way to Pasadena Tuesday. He said he had walked all the way from Tampa, Fla., had been six weeks on the way and worn out five pairs of shoes. His name was given as Richard Coryell, better known as "Traveling Dick," an orphan, who has been taking care of himself for two years. He came by the Southern route and enjoyed it all his hardest experience being lack of water in the desert after leaving Texas. He camped by the way and earned his meals in the towns through which he passed. When roads were wet his progress was slow, but under good conditions he averaged 15 to 20 miles a day. The distance covered was 3500 miles.

Volley Tournament Is Close Contest

Wednesday night volleyball games were played by the first and second teams of high school junior and senior girls, the juniors of the first team winning 21 to 19, the seniors of the second team capturing that game with a score of 19 to 18.

Tonight the first and second teams of junior and freshmen girls will play. Thus far in the round-robin contest no class has won with both teams.

Prof. Baumgardt to Speak on Stars

Prof. B. R. Baumgardt, the celebrated stereopticon lecturer, who is a personal friend of Principal George U. Moyses, will instruct students of Glendale high Thursday, October 26, with his lecture "The Stars." It will, of course be repeated that all may have opportunity to enjoy it.

Absent Treatment Healed Lame Foot

REDDING, Cal., Oct. 26.—John Woolin, honor convict, en route from the state highway camp at Big Bear, Trinity county, to Folsom penitentiary for treatment for a lame foot, ran away from guards last night, according to word received here today.

Up to early today no trace of him had been found. "Apparently foot entirely healed," the message received here said.

CAMERON THOM'S CABIN IS IN THE FIRE ZONE

Possibility That It Will Be Destroyed by the Forest Flames

In the path of the terrible forest fire that is raging in the San Bernardino mountains is a wonderful mountain cabin belonging to Cameron Thom, president of the Realty Board of Glendale, and there is grave danger of that structure being consumed by the flames before the conflagration has been extinguished.

Early Monday morning Mr. Thom was called by telephone from San Bernardino and was informed that if he wanted to save anything in his cabin he would have to leave immediately for the high mountains.

Cam set sail and inside of a week in his trusty boat had reached the mouth of the canyon, where he was told that he could go no further. After explaining that he was a property owner in the hills and that he wanted to try to save some of his property he was permitted to go up the hill.

As he went up he saw that the fire was just entering Waterman canyon, but he returned late Monday afternoon the fire had worked its way far up the canyon. The road along which he drove was ablaze with burning brush and foliage. He stated that the flames had not yet reached the big timber, but that it is feared it will get there before extinguished. He said also that the sparks from the fire were falling like rain on the forests in San Bernardino.

Mr. Thom's cabin is a wonder in the way of a mountain home. It has a living room 20x30 feet in size, three bedrooms, fully equipped kitchen and dining room. He is expecting to receive a call at any time telling him to get out of the hills and help keep the fire from his mountain home.

INCORPORATION IS STARTED BY COLLEGE

List of Instructors and Directors Soon Ready

The National Baseball college of Burbank has its incorporation proceedings Monday. The list of directors and instructors of the new institution is almost ready for publication.

A letter from Jesse W. Orndorff, who has been directing the organization of the new project, came to the chamber of commerce of Burbank yesterday, as follows:

Dear sir: We were tickled to death on that publicity stunt of yesterday and the only disappointment was on the size of the crowd. But that does not matter. When Burbank sees that we mean business and when the young students start spending money in Burbank I think they will warm up to us. The trouble is that it is a new thing and you know that people are skeptical about anything new or that they don't know anything about.

We are starting our incorporation today and a lawyer is drawing up the papers. We will have a final meeting in about ten days.

As soon as we get incorporated the proper officers will be out to close the deal at Burbank.

The New York Evening Mail had a special reporter at the dedication yesterday and took him down to the telephone office and he sent a nice story over the wire.

We are going to coax Frank Chance to act as president instead of adviser and we don't know exactly what the lineup of officers will be until we get his answer.

Another accident occurred when Frank Hillis of 812 South Maryland avenue, struck a bicycle on which Katherine Girard of 230 South Louise street, was riding, the accident occurring on Colorado street at 9 o'clock in the morning. No one was hurt.

SHRINE CLUB STAGES HAPPY HALLOWE'EN

One Hundred Members and Wives and Sweethearts Make Merry

One of the most elaborate Shrine club functions held in Glendale during the past year was the Halloween dancing party which took place at the chamber of commerce auditorium Wednesday night. More than 100 members of the club and their wives and sweethearts were present and each took his or her happy smile.

The hall was decorated in true Halloween style with pumpkins, jack-o'-lanterns, cats and witches, orange and black being the prevailing colors. Dancing was enjoyed from 7 o'clock to 11 midnight, music being furnished by Kelly's Shrine club orchestra. Toward the close of the evening refreshments consisting of sandwiches, doughnuts, cider and coffee were served.

DETAILS OF TAX PAYMENTS GIVEN BY AUDITOR

While to the seasoned taxpayer there seems little excuse for publishing the details of the tax payment, yet the fact that each year there is added a vast array of taxpayers who have never before paid taxes in the state of California, and in many cases, have never paid taxes anywhere before, makes it seem advisable to place emphasis upon a few of the rulings for the payment, in order to save the novice at the art some time and trouble.

The Tax Payers' Guide, compiled under the supervision of the Los Angeles county auditor, A. L. Payne, contains a list of concise directions to taxpayers. A few are quoted below:

Before remitting, carefully examine all tax bills and see that all property upon which you desire to pay taxes is listed and properly described.

No personal checks drawn on banks outside of Los Angeles county will be accepted for taxes. Postage stamps will not be accepted as payment for taxes. All remittances are at the risk of the sender.

To avoid penalties, all remittances must be in the county tax collector's office before 6 o'clock p. m. on December 4th, 1922 and April 30, 1923.

Receipts are held ten days after application of the check and during rush period a little longer to permit verification.

Tax rates are fixed annually on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of September, by the board of supervisors and vary from year to year, being determined by the amount necessary for county, school and for other special district purposes.

The county board of equalization meets annually on the first Monday in July. The assessment assessments and continues in session daily thereafter until the third Monday in July. The assessment rolls are open for public inspection during that period.

Road improvement and lighting district taxes, municipal improvement district taxes and irrigation district taxes are included in the tax bill when indicated by a rubber stamp.

To those who own property in outlying districts of Los Angeles county, it would be well to note that drainage improvement district taxes are not included in the regular tax bills and separate bills must be obtained for them. The taxes on improvement district No. 1, located between the University of California and the Pacific Electric Air Line railway, become due and payable and delinquent at the same time as the general rates.

For information relative to special assessments for municipal public work, write Street Assessment Department, Los Angeles, if the property is located within said city; or to the City Clerk of cities other than Los Angeles. Such special assessments are not included in the table of rates.

An important note is given on the redemption rates on taxes. Interest is computed, on taxes only, at 7 per cent per annum from July 1 of each year of sale to date of redemption. Penalty is computed on taxes only, for delinquencies of 1924 and following years, as follows:

- 10 per cent penalty for first 6 months to December 31.
- Twenty per cent penalty for second 6 months to June 30.
- Thirty per cent penalty for second year to June 30.
- Forty per cent penalty for third year to June 30.
- Forty-five per cent penalty for fourth year to June 30.
- Fifty per cent penalty for fifth and each older year to June 30.

For all information regarding tax rates, delinquent tax bills, or redemption from sale for delinquency address H. A. Payne, county auditor, Hall of Records, Los Angeles, Calif.

WOOLWINE DENOUNCES PROHIBITION

Declares Volstead Act Not Sanctioned by Majority of People

FOR WINE AND BEER

Declares He Will Enforce 18th Amendment if He Is Elected Governor

In a speech made before about one hundred people at the high school auditorium last night, Thomas Lee Woolwine, democratic nominee for governor, denounced the Eighteenth amendment and advocated the sale of light wines and beer.

"As long as the Volstead act is a law I am for its enforcement," said Woolwine, "but the Volstead act nor any other law that has not the sanction of the majority of the people can never be enforced and will only serve to destroy the very fundamentals of our liberties—the constitution of the United States."

As an alternative to the Volstead act, Woolwine advocates government regulation of the sale of liquors.

Woolwine criticized his Los Angeles headquarters, claiming that they had kept his speech in Glendale a "dark secret."

HAYHURST PETS MUST WIN FOR A SHAVE

No win, no shave. That's the predicament Coach Hayhurst's football players are in. And it's all their own fault. They solemnly swore to each other that until they won their next game they would refrain from using their safety razors. That's not so bad as they have a chance to shave Friday night if they trim the South Pasadena eleven. But if they don't, each and every one will have to attend the La Madrid dance looking like hobos. Many of the players wear scratches on their arms as a result of unwittingly grabbing a stiff beard.

"Speeding Must Stop," Declare Eight Speedsters

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—For the first time in history men sent to the county jail today were agreeing with the judge that he was right in sentencing them.

They were eight men sentenced to from two to five days each for speeding.

"The judge was right," they agreed, several voicing amplifications of this statement in interviews.

"The thing should be stopped and we won't be caught again," was the joint statement of the convicted eight.

RECEIVING POST OFFICE AT THE HIGH

The high school gyms will be used as receiving stations for incoming parcel post packages during the Christmas holidays, says Postmaster Jackson, and a guard will be on duty there at all times. These will be distributed. Arrangements can be perfected, by auto trucks.

Already he has received about 150 applications from high school boys for holiday work. The use of trucks will in no way do away with the necessity for employing the boys, because several will be needed to each truck.

One of the subjects of discussion at the last weekly meeting of postoffice supervisors was odd sizes of letters and cards, particularly Christmas cards, and the advisability of getting the dealers and the buying public to cooperate in the use of standard sizes. The automatic electrically operated cancelling stamp machine is adapted to these sizes, and the little mail has to be sorted out and stamped by hand, making extra work and delay. Also, the cancelling stamp on tiny envelopes is apt to trespass on the address and partially obliterate it. Another objection made to these little envelopes is their disposition to slip out of bundles of mail and get lost. Postmaster Jackson says he believes the word to the wise will be sufficient.

Against Single Tax Measure to Be Voted on in November

At its meeting Wednesday noon the Glendale Realty Board went on record as being against Amendment No. 29, known as the land franchise act, or the single tax amendment, which will be voted on at the November election. The following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, the people of the state of California at the election to be held in November of this year, an initiative measure known as the land franchise taxation amendment No. 29 on the ballot, which said initiative measure declares, among other things, that private ownership of land is unlawful and against public policy, and in purpose proposes to take for state purposes the full value of all land in California held in private ownership.

"Whereas, the adoption of the measure would mean confiscation of all private land owned in California resulting in financial and commercial chaos, and in purpose proposes to take for state purposes the full value of all land in California held in private ownership.

"Resolved, by the Glendale Realty Board that we oppose the so-called land franchise tax known as No. 29, on the ballot and that this organization use every effort to bring about the defeat of this measure at the polls."

In a debate on initiative amendment No. 30, known as the transportation amendment, which in effect takes away from the cities of California the power to grant franchises and places this power in the hands of the railroad commission, the board reaffirmed its action at a previous meeting to the effect that the board go on record as being absolutely opposed to the act, to do everything it can to defeat it at the polls.

In this last game an extra period had to be played because of a tie.

FASHION CENTER FORMAL OPENING SATURDAY NIGHT

To Be Marked by Exhibition of Fine Paintings

As an added attraction to the formal opening of the Fashion Center, and other stores in the Monarch building on Saturday night, the Fashion Center will have on display four wonderful paintings, the work of Marie B. Kendall, an artist of California scenes.

This artist is well known and was a pupil of William Chase and Jean Mannheim. She has an exhibit in the Palace of Fine Arts at San Francisco and at Exposition Park, Los Angeles, and these four especially have been shown all over the country.

The first, "Opalescent Sea," was painted at Laguna Beach and for any one who loves the ocean, this picture should have an appeal.

"The Spirit of the Eucalyptus" typifies the spirit of California's tall eucalyptus against the mountains and sky with sunshine over all.

The third, "Autumn Gold," portrays the splendor of California with mountains in the distance, showing the sunshine and spirit of California.

"The Sea," painted at Carmel-by-the-Sea, has been exhibited in a great many places. It is a very valuable painting and William Chase said, "This is one of her very best pieces of work."

Work of this kind should interest the art circles and societies of Glendale, as well as the entire public, and all four of these paintings will be on display Saturday.

Mr. Cotton is well known here for his wonderful art work and he has exhibited in many large cities of the country.

Christian Church Gathers Its People

One hundred and fifty partook of the weekly church night supper at Central Christian church last evening. This was followed by the prayer service during which Rev. Cole preached a short sermon on David's despairing exclamation, "No man careth for my soul." He made an earnest plea to the members of the church that they at all times have a care for men's souls and that they put forth special effort to bring many to the coming revival meetings which open November 12. He again announced the eight cottage prayer meetings that are to be held in the city and told the leaders what he hoped they would pray for and plan at these meetings.

AMONG THE PEBBLES

By JOHN BRECK

Where the cool current of a mountain stream slackens in the shallows below a bend, as it warmed into lethargy by the patch of sun which strikes through the willows, a city stands. It is a city of tiny homes. They crowd the pebbles, like houses set on a myriad hills, while a swarm of life wanders the crooked streets between them. They are built of stone, for tiny grains of sand make blocks as big as those which make the pyramids when laid to the scale of your littlest fingernail. And they are round, as builders began in earliest times. Thus they were made, and thus they were mortared with spun silk before ever moth wings grew scales. Their masons are the young of the slim gray "fish-moths" who poke feelers as long as themselves from under a leaf to test the wind. Ancestors of the moths, they have declined to become extinct, as ancestors should be, but true modern moths they have refused to become. They still wear the primitive insect hair. Perhaps they were wise not to experiment with the new style of wing-spangles.

For in each tiny house lives a small white worm. Sometimes he peers out, sometimes ventures forth on the end of a silken line to fish for microscopic game. But he reels himself deftly back into his door when any bogie of little grubs comes after him.

They lurk on every side; fierce waterbeetles row past neatly feathering their oars, black swimmers driven by their long, jointed sweeps, and wee trout hatchlings, all goggle eyes and gaping jaws. The masked larvae of the dragonflies, propelled by a squirt of water astern, and adolescent beetles, some snapping as fast as agile as the crawfish they look like, some oared like a galley, eight pairs to each side and two pairs to steer by, clap their nippers at him, while the sandy shore fairly crawls with prowling toad-bugs. Where could he stop to drool, fancy pair of wings? When he leaps to the surface, a full grown fly, his sails must shake out the instant they feel the air. For he'll have birds to dodge out there.

And there are many vacant houses in the town beside those whose tenants have taken wing—houses with torn roofs. For a small stone-gray bird, kin to the thrush, dives after them, plucks their startled wings, and to an untimely end, and then, depressing his full craw with his sated beak, he has the impudence to sing their requiem. As the wailers sympathized with the oysters he devoured, so does the water-ouzel mourn—with a little rising tinkle, as though he were laughing at himself, in the finish of his song.

OKRA AND MUTTON STEW

One pound of lean mutton, free from bone, two tablespoons butter or drippings, two tablespoons of flour, two onions, two cups of tomatoes, two cups okra, cut into thin slices, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, water. Wipe the meat and cut into cubes. Wash the okra and cut into thin slices; dredge it and the meat with flour, and fry them in the fat until brown. Add the other ingredients using water enough barely to cover, and cook slowly either in the oven or on top of the stove in a tightly covered dish.

The Little Guy—Wow-will you let me phone my wife and ask her which I shall choose?

NOT LONG

Blimpion—I detest the present day fashion. Does your wife wear 'em short?

Simpson—Yes, very. I have to buy her one every week.

GLENDALE'S GREATEST BOOK OF THRIFT

The Classified Advertising Pages of the

GLENDALE DAILY PRESS

They are the most eagerly followed pages in the city—thrifty men and women who have particular wants scan the classified columns of the Glendale Daily Press regularly.

The Want Ad has come to be a powerful little magic servant. One needs but to wish for satisfaction of a want, and the way is open for fulfillment. For those who want positions, the "Employment" want-ads point out specific opportunities. Employers use the columns to find the right people for the right places. Under the heading of "Business Opportunities," the man who is seeking a good investment may find a list of attractive offerings. If you should lose valuables, the want-ads offer a splendid chance of recovery through the use of a "Lost and Found" notice. So it goes on, through an almost endless list of services that folks require from time to time.

Through the classified columns of the Glendale Daily Press the man who wants something and the man who has it meet on common ground. The transactions are mutually satisfactory and profitable. Satisfaction, Profit, Thrift—these are found to result when you

MANY NEW BOOKS ON THE LIBRARY SHELVES

More new books are on the shelves of the Glendale library on Harvard street, some of them serious, some light, entertaining fiction.

Among the books for the thoughtless is "Painted Windows," by a gentleman with a duster, a study of religious personalities brilliantly portrayed.

"The Medieval Mind," by Henry Osborn, is a history of the development of thought and emotion in the middle ages. It is the work of a scholar written in a charming style.

"The Vanishing of Betty Varian," by Carolyn Wells, is an excellent addition to the collection of mystery stories which the library affords.

"Hidden Places," by Bertrand Sinclair, vividly and realistically portrays the problem to be met by many a returned soldier.

"The Strength of the Plains," tells the story of an Oregon feud and of the wide-open spaces.

"Celtic People of Importance," by M. J. Frank Norris, has been described as an epic of the American family. It is a California story.

"The Purple Pearl," by Anthony Fryd, is a fine tale of adventure dealing with four best people.

"Men Size" is a fine piece of portraiture of typical characters of the Southwest by a man who knows the Englishman, who was father, migrated to Canada and brought up his son in an environment of ranches and sawmills and the big out of doors.

"The Ghost Girl" is by Edgar Saltus, who is gone and will never more. It was regarded by him and by his publishers as one of the best things he ever did in fiction.

"Two-Gun Sue," by Douglas Grant, portrays the fight of a western girl against great odds.

"Over Two Seas" is a tale of the adventures of two boys in the South seas, written by Ralph Henry Barbour in collaboration with H. P. Holt, who knows the sea thoroughly.

Again have the northern wilds been used for the background of a story of more than the usual thrill. It is entitled "The Man in the Twilight" and was written by Ridgely Cushman. Its setting is a great pulp mill industry.

CERRITOS TEACHER IS HONORED BY FRIENDS

Mrs. Jessie M. Clay was honored recently when a group of teacher friends entertained in her honor.

Mrs. Clay was formerly Miss Atwood, teacher at Cerritos avenue school. This affair was given at the home of Mrs. Irene J. McReynolds, 338 North Kenwood street.

The house was prettily decorated in autumn colors of brown and gold and at the close of the afternoon, ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Clay was presented with a beautiful sterling silver carving set, a gift from the guests.

Invited guests included Mrs. Jessie M. Clay, honoree, Mrs. D. L. Lucey, Miss Sarah Merritt, Miss Alta Gaynor, Miss Margaret Ball, Miss Olive Hutchinson, Miss Margaret Kincaid, Miss Mae C. Aldrich, Miss Loren Fritch, Miss Matilda Smith, Miss Marie Struble, Mrs. Ella E. Gray, Mrs. Minnie E. Seale and Mrs. Annie L. Curtis.

THURS. AFTERNOON CLUB BAZAAR IS BIG SUCCESS

A sum of approximately $200 was realized last night by the bazaar, supper and dance given by the members of the Thursday Afternoon club at Yeoman hall, 1504 South San Fernando road. The proceeds will be added to the club-house building fund.

This is the first large affair given by the club this year and it was a success, both socially and financially. There was a very large attendance and things sold rapidly.

People were coming and going all afternoon and evening. During the evening a short program was presented. Miss Genevieve Wagner of Los Angeles sang "The Greatest Wish in the World," by Del Negro, and "Keep on Hopin'."

Mrs. E. Junior Bennett of Glendale accompanied her.

Jack Roshier and his three trained Spitz dogs put on a clever stunt. Mr. Roshier is on the Orpheum circuit, and he with his three cunning dogs entertained an appreciative audience.

At the close of the evening several prizes were given to which tickets had been sold. The ones holding the lucky numbers were awarded the prizes. Mrs. E. V. Bacon won a pretty wicker rocking chair which had been generously donated by the Murphy Furniture company on South Brand boulevard; Stuart Street won the duck, which had been donated by Mrs. E. V. Bacon and he presented it to the two Mabry children; Mrs. J. E. Wilbur received the beautifully dressed doll which had been donated by Mrs. A. J. Becker. Mrs. Baustow received a fluffy, warm comforter which had been made by several ladies of the club, and Mrs. Ed Shipman won the vanity case donated by Roberts & Echols.

The Sierra Beverage company kindly donated all of the beverage that was sold and Sanborn & Vail, through their local representative, Mr. Perry, donated the coffee which was served with the dinner, there being about 150 people served.

Following the dinner, dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by Eddie Moniot's orchestra.

GLENDAL ARTISTS ENTERTAIN L. A. LEGION POST

An array of talent from Glendale contributed to an entertainment given last night for the American Legion Post, No. 8, at Los Angeles.

H. H. Harris of Glendale was in charge of the entertainment, the occasion being the celebration of the post's new quarters in the Union league building and honoring the state commander, Seth Millington.

Julius Kranz, violinist, rendered two of his own compositions, accompanied by Miss Alma Geiger. Miss Geiger also gave a delightful piano number.

Miss Viola Yorba, always a prime favorite with the Legion boys, outdid herself in several vocal selections and dances, assisted by Earnest Martinez.

Other artists on the program were Miss Betty Francisco, Bert Lyell, Mervin LeRoy, of moving picture fame and several others, which concluded a splendid program.

GLENDAL MAIL EDITED BY CAR

A serious mishap was sustained by Glendale's first-class mail when a sack of northern dispatch from train No. 26, thrown off at Glendale station, was run over by a train going in the other direction and badly mutilated, at 8:30 this morning.

EDITORIALS BY THE PEOPLE

Editor Glendale Daily Press: An habitual reader of The Press, it has become my custom daily to glance through "Comment on Day's News" by Henry James with pleasure and often with profit to myself. It was therefore with much surprise that I came upon the following statement in this column in your issue of Monday, October 23:

"There is a lot of money behind the opponent of Congressman Lineberger. It is said to come from various and somewhat peculiar sources. Lineberger, however, has fine record to which to point, and this gives him an advantage that cannot be overcome."

Now, while Mr. James in this article says nothing against "Mr. Lineberger's opponent," he insinuates much which may be construed as very damaging. It is but fair to assume that Mr. James has in his possession knowledge of facts and figures which would justify his grave and damaging insinuation, for he has hitherto given us the impression that he desires to do justice to no one, much less to a man of such unquestionably high moral standing as I believe even Mr. Lineberger will admit his opponent to be. But if Mr. James is in possession of this knowledge or any absolutely good evidence which justifies insinuations will he please state the facts in the columns of The Press, if for no other reason than the enlightening of those of us who now so fully believe that Mr. Lineberger's opponent is the logical candidate of the PEOPLE as opposed to the politicians and would make a stronger representative of his district than would Mr. Lineberger.

I understand that Mr. Lineberger is a very upright citizen, one who would discountenance any attempt to make votes for himself by false statements or insinuations against his opponent, but there are those of us who have watched the career of "Mr. Lineberger's opponent" from the beginning until now believe that he is a martyr to his principles; and that his independence of thought and action and his very effective work in the cause of prohibition have made him hated by the political bosses of the G. O. P.

Now, Mr. James, will you please back your insinuations by a concrete statement? We are open to conviction. F. McQ. KELLEY.

Now, Mr. James, will you please back your insinuations by a concrete statement? We are open to conviction. F. McQ. KELLEY.

his grave and damaging insinuation, for he has hitherto given us the impression that he desires to do justice to no one, much less to a man of such unquestionably high moral standing as I believe even Mr. Lineberger will admit his opponent to be. But if Mr. James is in possession of this knowledge or any absolutely good evidence which justifies insinuations will he please state the facts in the columns of The Press, if for no other reason than the enlightening of those of us who now so fully believe that Mr. Lineberger's opponent is the logical candidate of the PEOPLE as opposed to the politicians and would make a stronger representative of his district than would Mr. Lineberger.

DUTY

The duty of a retail lumber yard does not consist only in selling lumber. To consider carefully the individual requirements of each customer, to recommend only those materials which satisfactorily fill those requirements.

To conscientiously advise our customers on the various building problems that may arise.

In addition to the above the use of our complete filling system is available. It means of which the prospective builder can get in touch with contractors, carpenters, builders, plasters and cement workers.

These are functions which this firm considers its elementary duties.

Striking New Red Cross Poster

Chartered by Congress
To Relieve and Prevent Suffering
In Peace and In War
At Home & Abroad

Riveting the attention of the beholder on the fact that the American Red Cross is chartered by Congress as an official volunteer relief organization, the dome of the Capitol at Washington, upon which is superimposed a large Red Cross, is the central figure of a new poster for the Annual Red Cross Roll Call. The poster, which has been pronounced one of the most striking of innumerable representations of the famous dome, is the work of Franklin Booth, a New York artist of wide renown. It will be displayed throughout the country during the Roll Call period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving when the Red Cross membership for 1923 will be enrolled.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

NEUTRALIZING LIME.

The fall housecleaning was well under way at the big house under Pine Hill, when Johnnie, the youngest son, decided to have a finger in the pie.

He was tired of beating rugs, emptying pails of soapy water, and bringing mops in off the porch, where they had been drying in the sun.

"I'll just whitewash the posts in the vegetable cellar," said Johnnie to himself. "I heard mother say she wanted the vegetable cellar whitewashed, and if I start with the posts it will be a surprise to her."

It was Johnnie got a great quantity of lime and a very small quantity of water—probably having the usual small boy's aversion to water—and proceeded to mix up some whitewash.

As Johnnie thought it should be mixed, that is,
Johnnie put the lime into the pail with his hand.

Then he rubbed his eye.
His eye smarted and he rubbed
it again, very vigorously this time and a trifle wonderingly.

Then he put some more lime in the pail.
His eye by this time was decidedly painful and the whitewash he was mixing was a hopeless mass.

He looked at it through smarting tears.

Then he went upstairs to his mother.
"Gracious, child! Whatever have you been doing? Keep your hand away from your eye! Tell mother what you were doing!"

Mother-like, the woman turned her child to the light, surveyed his streaming eyes, caught his lime-covered hand, and thought quickly.

The first thing to do was to wash the lime out of Johnnie's eye.
Water, she realized, would help, but there must be something to weaken the action of the lime which was burning into the child's eye. And there was no time to be lost.

"I must neutralize it. What is it? Vinegar, I think. Yes, I'm sure it's vinegar, diluted with water."

Thankful that she had always been interested in caring for the sick, and in reading little scraps of information about injuries, Johnnie's mother put a teaspoonful of vinegar into a teacupful of warm water. Washing her hands, she dipped little bits of clean cotton into the solution and dripped it into Johnnie's eye. He cried and kicked a little and held back, because he was sure that vinegar in a fellow's eye would be very painful.

His mother held him firmly, one arm across his chest, over his own arms, and dripped the solution into his eye until the pain began to lessen. Then she squeezed cool water that had been boiled into the reddened eye, and made Johnnie close his eyes. She then applied cool thick compresses of cotton, dipped in ice water, to the outside of the eyelid, and bandaged the compresses loosely but firmly enough to keep the eyes covered.

And Johnnie had to lie down with his eyes closed and bandaged until the doctor arrived instead of white-washing the vegetable cellar. But Johnnie had lost interest in white-washing.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evening. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrant. BREAST OF LAMB AND GREEN PEAS

Remove the skin from a breast of lamb, put it into a saucepan of boiling water and let simmer for five minutes. Take out and lay in cold water. Line the bottom of a steamer with a few slices of bacon, lay the lamb on these, peel a lemon, cut it into slices, and put these on the meat, to keep it white and make it tender; cover with one or two more slices of bacon, add one pint of stock, onion and carrots and simmer very gently until tender. Have ready green peas, put these in a dish and place the lamb on the top of these. The appearance of the dish may be much improved by glazing the lamb, and spinach may be substituted for the peas when variety is desired.

TOMATO POT ROAST

Place pot roast on top of the stove with a very little cold water until it begins to boil. Pour one large can of tomatoes well seasoned over the whole, place the pot in a slow oven and cook for three hours. It needs very little watching and will be found extremely tender when eaten.

This is the first picture to reach America of the town of San Terenzo, Italy, where 200 persons were killed and 700 seriously injured by the explosion of huge munitions dumps in Fort Falconara.

LIENT. MAUGHAN'S PLANE WITH WHICH HE MADE RECORD

The record was made during government tests and was officially timed by officers from McCook field. The machine is a Curtiss army biplane, with a 400-horse power engine.

EAGLE ROCK OPENS ITS OWN THEATER TONIGHT

An especially attractive program is being planned for the grand opening of the Eagle Rock United theater, to be held Thursday and Friday, October 26 and 27.

This new theater is located on South Central avenue, Eagle Rock, and is one that Eagle Rock can well be proud of.

The opening films include "The Ladder 34," and when the superstitious "bird" steps under a ladder he starts a laugh that lasts through the whole six reels. Everybody likes Larry Semon and he is exceptionally comical in his new production "Golf."

One of the main features is the appearance in person of Richard Coburn, composer of the song hits, "Avalon," "Smiling," and other popular melodies. He will be there to sing his latest popular ballads.

A cartoon comedy, "Felix at the Fair," will also be shown.

There are two performances every night, at 7 and 9, and the prices are right, tickets being 25 cents and 32 cents, with war tax paid.

The program for the rest of the week is equally as attractive and will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Watch the Man With the Advertising Idea

—he may be the coming brains of your business

Look over the young executives who direct the retail and the manufacturing businesses of New York.

A surprisingly large percentage of them have reached their goals by advocating advertising, by directing the advertising and by making the advertising work.

If yours is a business which doesn't advertise, don't close your ears to the story of your young men. Help them to think it out—listen to their plans and their hopes. Add the counsel of years of experience to the minds of the men who are planning the future of your business.

Did you ever expect that iron could be advertised profitably? Few advertising men did. Did you ever expect to eat trade-marked grape-fruit? It is an accomplished fact at thousands of breakfasts this morning. Did you ever think the dairyman could profitably use the forces of publicity, or that a barbershop could grow to twenty-five, largely by the power of the written word and an ideal of service?

The coming executives realize that a business exists, in the last analysis, in the minds of its customers, rather than in four walls and a roof, and, perhaps, that is why they are coming executives.

JUST BY SMILING
There's many a battle with anger been won,
Just by smiling;
There's many a day's race the better been run,
Just by smiling;
There's many a heart that was cold has been warmed,
Just by smiling;
There's many a man with a frown been disarmed,
And surely nobody has ever been harmed,
Just by smiling.

There's many a trouble has been charmed away
Just by smiling;
There's many a cloud has been lifted from day,
Just by smiling;
There's many a harsh word been robbed of its sting,
And many an arrow of hate set a-wing,
Has been made to fall, a quite impotent thing,
Just by smiling.

There's many a fear in this life been allayed,
Just by smiling;
There's many a trouble the lighter been made,
Just by smiling;
There's many a chip from the shoulder been cast,
There's many a dangerous corner been passed,
And many a victory won at the last
Just by smiling.

So make the day's work something good to be done,
Just by smiling;
And make the long race something good to be won,
Just by smiling;
And fortune may frown on us, sorrow may send
Its trials and troubles, but know this, my friend,
That what be the struggle we'll win in the end,
Just by smiling.

ELOQUENCE

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc. (Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers)

Eloquence is not identical with the spinning of fine phrases, though many speakers still seem to think it is. Slavishly they toil over dictionaries and books of rhetoric, laboriously they write and rewrite their speeches in the effort to give their ideas a magnificent garb.

Then, when at last they take the platform, they too often discover that they fail, not merely to impress, but even to hold their audience. Not the silence of eager interest, but the restlessness of boredom attends their oratorical flights. In the bitterness of their disappointment they may reproach themselves with having been guilty of the error of "talking over the heads" of those who came to hear them.

But usually that is not their real error. Their real error consists in having underestimated their hearers' critical acumen.

They have depended for their effect on the manner of their delivery rather than its matter. And their hearers have been quick to sense this, and, rightly or wrongly, to suspect that the matter is of no importance, or that the speaker himself is not sincerely convinced of its importance.

Sincerity—it cannot be put too strongly—is at the very root of all eloquence. Let a man sincerely believe what he is saying in a public address, let him have also a real knowledge of what he is talking about, and he never need be a phrase-maker to rise to heights of eloquence.

He must, of course, pay some attention to the mode of his expression. If the rhetoric of artificiality is to be avoided, avoided, too, should be the uncountness of slang and grammatical looseness. Though even the slangy and the ungrammatical may attain eloquent persuasiveness if they but be ardently sincere.

Whereas to the insincere, eloquent persuasiveness is an impossibility, no matter how adept as rhetoricians they may be. Nor will it do—as some would have us believe—to pretend a sincerity that is not possessed, even as an actor feigns emotions he feels not.

This may yield a temporary triumph, only to be followed soon or late by an increasing failure in proportion as the pretending becomes more and more known for the falsity it is. The charlatan who flattered himself that he was accounted eloquent will now have the painful experience of talking to empty benches, of seeing his followers desert him, not one by one, but in droves.

Remember always that, as someone has said, "The message of eloquence is addressed to the heart rather than the brain." There is just one sure way by which those who would reach the heart through the spoken word can do so. That way is the way of sincerity.

And the greater one's enthusiasm for that which one sincerely believes, the greater one's eloquence is likely to be. That I doubt not was what Webster had in mind, when speaking of eloquence, he affirmed:

"Labor and learning may toil for it, but they will toil in vain. Words and phrases may be marshalled in every way, but they cannot compass it. It must consist in the man, in the subject and in the occasion."

$150 FOR HALF A BEE CALLED OUTRAGE BY DUMM AND DUMMER

See Grave Injustice in Social System That Gives Bee a Financial Rating and Lets It Spend Winters in South

"Why the grinch?" demanded O. Howe Dummer, as he came upon A. Lott Dummer sitting on a park bench and looking very dejected. "Life is so unfair," sighed Dummer.

"What's the complaint now?" asked Dummer. "Here I am out of work and unable to convince anybody that I'm worth a counterfeit mark, and I read in the newspapers that $150 had just been paid for a half interest in a bee," said Dummer, almost sobbing.

"Able who?" asked Dummer. "Not Able," exclaimed Dummer. "A bee? It's two words."

"I don't follow you, but go ahead," said Dummer. "A half interest in a queen has been bought for $150 by J. M. Cutter, an old fellow of Montgomery."

"Aha," explained Dummer, refreshing his recollection by glances at a newspaper clipping. "The interest has been sold to the American Apiculture Association, N. D. This makes the bee worth $300, just think of that. It's more than you and I are worth together at this particular minute."

"You mean to tell me that somebody has given $150 for a half interest in an ordinary bee?" demanded Dummer.

"I dunno how ordinary the bee is, but it's a bee," insisted Dummer, showing the newspaper item.

"This bee has a name and everything. They call her Achievement Girl. Can you fancy paying a bee with a name like that?"

"I can't fancy paying a bee under any circumstances whatever," remarked Dummer. "What has Achievement Girl done to get a name, a lot of front page publicity, and a rating with Bradstreet? Has she stung a visiting king or diplomat or supplanter?"

"It seems that the bee magnates have discovered that there are thoroughbred bees just as there are thoroughbred horses and thoroughbred cows. Achievement Girl is one of the real aristocrats, one of the highbrow bees of America. All her ancestors have been members of the first bee families."

"I suppose they came over in the Mayflower," remarked Dummer. "I'd expect a joke like that from you," returned Dummer. "I don't know what flower."

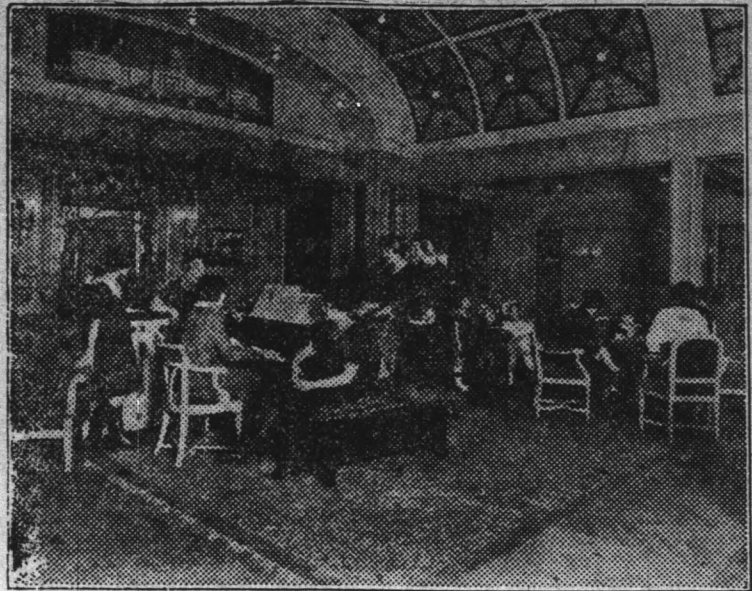

"Achievement Girl's folks came over in, but she only frequents the very best flowerers now. Her social prominence is so great that when she condescends to visit a flower, it only takes her a few seconds, the flower gets a rating it could gain in no other way."

"But why all the fuss over a bee?" asked Dummer.

"It's a part of the bigger and better bees campaign," declared

Piano on S. S. George Washington

Possesses Sentimental History

Around the Piano of Golden Memory.

New York. There has recently been overhauled and re-instated aboard the Steamship George Washington of the United States Lines, a piano which has responded to the fingers and accompanied the voices of more famous artists than any other instrument on the Seven Seas. The piano was aboard the George Washington when, in the days preceding the World War, she carried as passengers the most prominent personages of the day, and later, as a transport, after this country entered the conflict, she bore the youth of America to the Fields of Flanders. During those thrilling days, the piano responded brilliantly to the songs of the Homeland rapidly being left astern.

Inasmuch as a transport was hardly the place for a grand piano, the instrument was removed to a storage house and there it remained even after the George Washington had been reconditioned at a cost of over a million dollars, and entered the merchant service as the largest vessel flying the Stars and Stripes. A short time ago a veteran traveler, whose soul had responded on numerous occasions to the melodious notes of the piano, inquired as to its whereabouts and the management of the United States Lines immediately took steps to have it refurbished and tuned and installed in the spacious lounge. Again the vibrant notes charm the voyagers on the Atlantic crossing.

The Steamship George Washington piano is a marvelous instrument with an irresistible fascination for all its voyagers because of its sentimental history. Around it have gathered such illustrious artists of the singing stage as Mme. Gadsdi, Gertrude Fawcett, Mary Garden, Mme.

Schumann-Heink, Mme. Tetrazzini, Mme. Matzenauer, and many others who in their love for travelling upon the George Washington, earned for it the title of the "Song Bird Ship." The George Washington piano is credited with aiding in the discovery of many promising songsters, for travelling back and forth on the vessel are producers of opera and masters of the voice who are drawn to the lounge to listen to the volunteer players and singers who help enliven the voyage by their accomplishments. During an impromptu concert one evening a young lady going abroad with her mother volunteered to sing. In the lounge at the time was a Parisian maestro who has earned everlasting fame for his development of operatic talent. He listened keenly to the fresh young voice, and at the song's conclusion he sought out the girl and her mother and offered to give her free training if she would but place herself under his charge. The generous offer was accepted and it is predicted that shortly a singer of incomparable voice will make her debut.

The piano is the center of joyous affairs aboard America's greatest liner. It furnishes the music for the gay, impromptu dances and the music for the concert that marks each trip to and from Europe. But most of all the piano is the gathering place of the girls who make the ocean crossing. They are drawn to it even as the bee to the honey-giving flower.

If livefolk have their ghosts, the vicinity of the George Washington's piano must be congested with unseen counterparts of men and women famous in the realm of music, and could the grand piano re-echo the notes of yesterday, it would be a glorious soul-gripping symphony.

Old Noah was a great success as a speculator. He cornered all the stock in the world.

'MANSLAUGHTER' LAST SHOWING AT T. D. & L.

Today and tonight will witness the final presentation of the Cecil B. DeMille production, "Manslaughter," with Thomas Meighan, at the T. D. & L. theater. Almost 5000 Glendalians have already seen it here and it has proven to be as advertised, the finest picture ever shown in Glendale. The admirable Meighan plays his greatest role wonderfully supported by Leatrice Joy. The story is most absorbing, it literally glitens and thrills beyond description. If you have not seen "Manslaughter," by all means don't miss it. Go tonight, as it will be your last opportunity.

Dummer, "Bigger and better bees mean better honey, and better honey means better glucose imitations," returned Dummer.

"Who determines the value of bees?" asked Dummer. "They have bee appraisers," replied Dummer. "It's a very good profession, due to the fact that bees multiply so rapidly the profession will never be overcrowded. In appraising a bee you first have to consider its earning power. The maximum earning powers of a bee extend over a short period. Then you must consider its characteristics. Has it the will to succeed? Has it the determination to triumph over adversity? All these things must be carefully considered if the person employing the bee is not to get stung."

"What happens if a bee fails to make good after an appraisal and purchase?" asked Dummer. "It is either benched or given a release. It is very difficult to bench a bee, therefore most owners prefer to release them or transfer them to the minor leagues. Often a bee profits by minor league experience and comes back and succeeds like Joe Scott."

"Pretty soft!" remarked Dummer. "Soft isn't the word. Think of it! Achievement Girl, by the terms of the deal just announced, goes to the Alabama hive for six months. This amounts to spending the winter at a southern resort. That's more than you and I ever have been able to do."

"How'll the bee make the trip?" asked Dummer. "In an envelope sent as registered mail," explained Dummer.

"She may be worth $300 when she starts, but if she gets in my mail by mistake, she won't be worth a nickel a few seconds later," remarked Dummer. "The whole thing is most unjust," complained Dummer. "Can you imagine giving $150 for half of a bee?"

"If I did I'd be particular which half not to get," snappd Dummer.
